Chinese business culture and Guanxi (关系)

- Chinese business culture is based on relationships.
 - no person exists except in relation to others.
 - Relationships are a form of social capital, owned by people.
 - Guanxi is a complex Chinese concept that captures relationships grounded in trust, mutual obligations and shared experiences.

Each person operates within a guanxi network

Extended Guanxi Network

The business challenge is to penetrate these networks

FEOSS

Do you need Guanxi ?

– Yes:

- Critical in a deal
- Better communication
- Frank negotiation/No guessing
- “extra facilitation” possible

– No:

- Guanxi serves only in first introduction
- Don't over emphasis on Guanxi. At the end, it must be mutually beneficial
- YOU CAN FIND GUANXI

Guanxi is not the same as corruption and bribery

Cultural & Business Protocol

■ Meetings

- Be a good listener
- Realize that China is a collective society (Chinese are slow to decide on a course of action)

■ Discussions

- non-confrontational questions and answers
- take steps

Cultural & Business Protocol

■ Mediation

- Chinese may not say NO for fear of losing face

■ Social activities

- Chinese likes to make friends first and discuss business later
- Build trust and friendships

What to do?

It's an art.

Keep the Western strength

Learn the Chinese way

Good News

- Chinese understand and appreciate the Western way of doing business more and more
 - Moving close to international practices

BUT the Gap is still WIDE

FEOSS

Golden rules

1. Everything is possible.

2. Nothing is easy.

3. Patience is the essence of success.

4. "You don't understand our country" means they disagree.

5. "Signing a contract" means the beginning of the real negotiation.

FEOSS

Golden rules

6. Chinese are slow to decide, but stick to the decision once made.

7. See what they see, feel what they feel.

8. When you are optimistic, think about Rule No 2.

9. When you are discouraged, think about Rule No. 1.

10. Getting things done is easy, dealing with people is hard.

Good luck with doing business in China
